

*Commencement

1882

The names published in this commencement program include all students who earned a doctorate, educational specialist, master's or baccalaureate degree fall terms 2019 or winter terms 2020, and any student who applied for a degree for spring terms 2020 or summer terms 2020 by the posted deadline.

Participation in commencement and inclusion in the commencement program do not guarantee official granting of a degree. The Graduate Programs Office (doctorate, educational specialist, master's) and the Records and Registration Office (baccalaureate) verify completion of all coursework before a degree is conferred. The official document verifying degree completion is the official Eastern Washington University transcript.

This event provides an opportunity for celebration, gratitude and reflection. In the midst of our celebration, we ask that you take a moment of silence to acknowledge the service, compassion and dedication of our faculty and staff members who are not with us today.

A HISTORY OF EASTERN WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

In 1882, the Benjamin P. Cheney Academy opened its doors to more than 200 enrolling students. A generous contribution of $10,000 from a wealthy transportation industrialist had at last fulfilled the dreams of Cheney citizens for an institute of higher learning in their community.

The academy became the State Normal School at Cheney in 1889, the same year in which Washington was given its statehood. The school was proudly designated as an institution “for the purpose of instruction of persons, both male and female, in the art of teaching the various branches that pertain to a good common school.”

By the time it became Eastern Washington College of Education in 1937, Eastern was already a fully accredited four-year degree-granting institution, offering majors in numerous subjects.

The campus grew rapidly in size and program offerings in the decades following World War II. In 1961, the name was again changed, this time to Eastern Washington State College. It was increasingly evident that the region needed professionals in many fields; in response, a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs were added. Finally, in 1977, the name was changed to Eastern Washington University by the state legislature.

As a regional university, Eastern is charged with the special responsibility of meeting the undergraduate and graduate educational needs of the region’s people.

To that end, program areas have grown and been redefined as the needs of the Inland Northwest have grown and changed. Master’s programs have been added to meet the need for graduate-level education, and individual programs and schools have increasingly been granted accreditation by their respective oversight organizations as those programs and schools have grown and matured.

Today, Eastern students represent nearly every state in the union and more than 40 foreign countries. More than 100 different academic majors are available, offering students a wide variety of career-path options.

Nearly 600 full-time and adjunct faculty teach on the Cheney campus and at several locations throughout the state. Three-quarters of Eastern’s full-time faculty members hold doctorate degrees. With a low student-to-faculty ratio, Eastern continues to stress small classes, personalized instruction and individual attention.

Perhaps even more significant than Eastern’s steady advancement during the past 135 years is the university’s expanded regional role and its evolving goals, objectives and vision of its future.

In the past decade, Eastern Washington University has become a major force in the state and the Pacific Northwest, not only in the education of more than 12,000 students each year, but in the civic, cultural, scientific and economic development of the state and region.

GRADUATION WITH ACADEMIC HONORS

Undergraduate students who have demonstrated exceptional academic performance are honored in the commencement program listing.

Summa Cum Laude: Seniors who have a cumulative grade point average of 3.90-4.00-Gold Honors Cord.

Magna Cum Laude: Seniors who have a grade point average of 3.70-3.89-Silver Honors Cord.

Cum Laude: Seniors who have a grade point average of 3.50-3.69-Red and White Honors Cord.

University Honors: Seniors who completed special course work requirements through the Honors Program-Purple Honors Cord.

UNIVERSITY MACE

The tradition of a ceremonial mace for academic institutions goes back to medieval times. Adapted in form from the ancient battle weapon used by knights, the ceremonial mace symbolized the authority of regal personages, city or shire ruling bodies and chief officers of chartered institutions.

Originally representing vested authority during all official meetings, it eventually came to be connected mainly with formal ceremonies. In academic institutions, this is usually in conjunction with an academic procession, where the mace is carried at the head of the line of march or just before the platform party.

The form of the ceremonial mace has remained fairly consistent over the centuries. Design often reflects the period of creation, especially in the elaboration of ornamentation. Gold, silver and dark wood are traditional materials.

Eastern's mace, commissioned as a gift during the centennial year to the university by former and present members of the EWU Board of Trustees, was created by artist-craftsman Clifford Gaynard after a region-wide design competition. Its polished silver head in flowing cuplike form carries the university seal. The dark rosewood shaft with upper and medial gold-plated bosses is gently curved into the terminal silver cap at the bottom.

Although the modern design departs from the traditional straight and elaborately ornamented pattern, it retains a full effect of balance, dignity and decorum, while capturing the flowing lines typical of the eastern Washington landscape.

A permanent display case for the Eastern Washington University mace is located in the Office of the President.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The regalia worn for formal academic ceremonies such as commencements are patterned after the gowns and hoods worn regularly in the Middle Ages by scholars for warmth in unheated buildings and as distinguishing dress denoting their place in society.

A great variety of designs and colors developed over the years in the costumes worn at different universities. Since 1895 in the United States, a uniform intercollegiate code of style and colors has been adhered to by most institutions.

In accordance with this code, most academic gowns are black, although some universities permit other solid colors. Occasionally, the robe color may indicate a professional distinction, such as deep purple for law or scarlet for ecclesiastical honors. Adaptations of the academic costume for high schools have sometimes used colors other than black for purely decorative purposes. Sometimes a distinguishing device on the robe or cap indicates an individual honor or a special occasion.

The baccalaureate gown is of simple cut with full, somewhat pointed sleeves. The front is closed and often no hood is worn with this gown. The mortar board head covering originated in ancient Greece, symbolizing the commitment of the scholar to a life of building. It has either a plain black tassel or one of a color indicating the subject area of the degree. The custom of shifting the cap's tassel from right to left at the time of awarding the degree is used in lieu of investing each candidate with the bachelor's hood.

The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's gown, except that the sleeves are fuller, cut square with a half-circle at the bottom and sometimes worn with the arms through a horizontal slit at elbow level.

The doctoral robe is ampler in cut with a full bell-shaped sleeve, velvet panel edging in the front and three velvet stripes on each sleeve. The velvet trim may be black or in the color appropriate to the degree. The mortar board tassel for the doctorate is gold. Some American and many foreign universities use cap forms other than the mortar board, ranging from a soft velvet beret to more elaborate fringed styles, each of which has its own historical tradition.

Hoods worn over the gowns have a velvet edging, usually in a color indicating the specific degree and a lining which is partially turned out to show the colors of the college or university which granted the degree.

Some of the colors used for tassels and velvet panels to designate the degree are:

FACULTY EMERITI RECOGNITION

Thomas L. Crofoot

Thomas Crofoot obtained his Doctorate of Philosophy (Social Welfare) from the University of Washington in 1996, a Master of Social Work from Portland State University in 1980, and a Bachelor of Arts from The Evergreen State College in 1975. Crofoot joined Eastern Washington University's School of Social Work faculty as an associate professor in 2004.

Crofoot is a talented educator who primarily teaches graduate courses in research methods (including qualitative and quantitative methods), social policy analysis and policy advocacy, social work practice with diverse communities, and child welfare. He has been a key faculty member who has frequently taught in our hybrid programs. Crofoot receives consistently strong student evaluations. He is particularly well liked in the part-time hybrid programs where students have noted and appreciated his podcasts that were created for the online weeks.

Crofoot is committed and active with state and national Native and American Indian organizations. His service activities include joining community agencies in fulfilling their missions through research and evaluation support, program development, and assistance in grant writing on a pro bono basis. Crofoot contributes to American Indian policies at national and regional levels. He has also provided service in the area of racial disproportionality. He has regularly participated on school committees, oftentimes as committee chairperson.

Crofoot's scholarship, publications, and presentations have included topics related to American Indian policies and practices, racial disproportionality, child welfare, and mental health. Crofoot's research activities also include working collaboratively with colleagues in quantitative data analysis. Examples of his research include an article on disproportionality in child welfare, a "Red Paper" report on the state of American Indian and Alaska Native health in the Pacific Northwest, and an evaluation of a children's advocacy center with Tulalip Tribes. The evaluation findings were presented at the Protecting Our Children Conference of National Indian Child Welfare Association.

Dana C. Elder

Dana Elder retired fall quarter 2019 after 35 years of service to EWU. Beginning as Director of Composition in 1984, he served also as chair of the department from 2000 to 2007. He became Director of University Honors in 2007, a post he held for nine years. While he was directing that program, he continued to teach English. His varied contributions to EWU culminated in his receiving the Trustees' Medal in 2012.

Eastern students think very highly of Elder. One wrote that he was "a bright spot in my graduate program." Another wrote, "Great class, great teacher, great human being!" Exclamation marks appear in abundance in his ratings, one writing, "The best professor I ever had!" Yet another student wrote about him, "I've never gained so many life lessons in a class."

Besides his service work and his strength as a teacher, Elder continued to be active as a scholar throughout his career at EWU. He co-published one book and was the sole author of another. He wrote and published more than 50 essays and poems, and he spoke at an equal number of national and regional conferences.

FACULTY EMERITI RECOGNITION

Anthony M. Flinn

Anthony Flinn has been a valued member of the EWU Department of English for 29 years and uses his reading and scholarship to reexamine and innovate his pedagogy to enhance students' understanding of writing, literary texts and time periods. He is known for his service, particularly as a fierce defender and promoter of faculty, students and the discipline.

Flinn has consistently demonstrated his commitment to refine his pedagogy and maintain rigor through teaching technical and intellectual aspects of writing. For instance, in his courses, he offers a weekly close-reading exercise, called "quotation inquiry," in which a significant quotation from a literary text is analyzed by students in terms of word usage and ideas. This assignment stimulates students to begin the writing process through thinking about the meaning of words in specific contexts and how these words and contexts connect to social, political and cultural ideas.

Flinn was the program director for Literary Studies from 1994-1996, at which time he promoted the move to survey courses. Then in 2008, he was instrumental in extending the survey courses and developing senior seminars in genre, special topics and major authors. As the program director for the MA in Literature and Writing from 2017-2020, he shifted curricular focus from preparation to teach at community college to professional development. He also served in the Faculty Organization in as vice president and president (2003-2004) and served regularly for 10 years as a member of the Faculty Senate.

Flinn has demonstrated his commitment to research and creative works. He has presented his recent research upon Julian Barnes at a conference and also uses this research in his classroom by offering, for instance, Julian Barnes' History of the World in 10 ½ Chapters (1989) in ENGL 271 Critical Methodologies as a common text. The common text allows all students to participate in probing, testing and practicing the application of post-structuralist, deconstructionist, Marxist, feminist, etc. ideas consistently to familiar facts. Finally, Flinn contributes regularly to Spokane Public Radio and serves as creator, host and producer of Men in Charge from 2013 to present.

Jamie T. Neely

Jamie Tobias Neely, professor of journalism, taught part-time in the Eastern Washington University Journalism Program for 10 years before joining the faculty in 2008. She has served as director of the EWU Journalism Program since 2015 and has focused on student advising and updating the journalism curriculum for the digital age.

Neely graduated from the University of Wyoming (BA Journalism), Eastern Washington University (MFA Creative Writing-Non-Fiction) and Gonzaga University (MA Counseling Psychology). She joined the newsroom of The Spokesman-Review in 1987, eventually serving as feature writer, features editor, associate editor and member of the editorial board.

During her tenure at Eastern, she has served on the EWU Women's Commission and the Women Helping Women Fund board. She has been a multiple recipient of the Yarwood Faculty Mentor award. She also wrote frequent op-ed columns for The Spokesman-Review.

She has received more than 30 awards throughout her journalism career. Her editorial and commentary writing awards include the Society of Professional Journalists Northwest Excellence in Journalism Award and the Best of the West Award. Her feature writing and editing awards include the Pacific Northwest Excellence in Journalism Award, the C.B. Blethen Memorial Award, and the Missouri Lifestyle Award.

Neely has served as adviser to EWU's student newspaper, The Easterner, and chair of the EWU Board of Student Publications. Her students name her principles of journalism class as their favorite. She has relished the opportunity to introduce them to the powerful role journalism plays in our society as it seeks truth on behalf of citizens in support of a strong democracy.

Grant W. Smith

Grant Smith served in a variety of capacities as a professor in the English Department from his hire in 1968 to his retirement in 2019. Smith's record of teaching, service and scholarship is extensive and distinguished. He received his BA from Reed College in 1964, his MA from the University of Nevada in 1966 and his PhD from the University of Delaware in 1975.

Smith taught many courses on the classical literature of the ancient world, middle ages and modern period. He is best known by students for his engaging courses on Shakespeare. Smith designed and pioneered more than a dozen new courses in English and in the Humanities Program over his career.

During Smith's stint as chair of the English Department (1978-84), he planned and coordinated the development of the Religious Studies Program, the MFA in Creative Writing, the MA in Technical Writing and the MA in Rhetoric and Composition, as well as making significant contributions to the Honors Program. Smith served as Coordinator of Humanities from 1979 to his retirement.

Smith's scholarship is exceptional. He served as a member of editorial boards of several distinguished journals and held numerous offices in academic societies, including President of the American Name Society (1999-2001). His publications in peer-reviewed journals are too numerous to tally as are his invitations for interviews in major news releases, radio and television venues, and to address academic societies nationally and internationally.

Smith's contributions to the community are equally worthy of recognition. He served as president, board member, consultant, grant-writer and volunteer to many local agencies, organizations and charities. He is, perhaps, best known for his coordination of EWU's Bloomsday Corporate Cup runners, the team taking first place 27 out of the last 37 years, 23 of these consecutively.

William C. Williams

William Williams obtained his PhD in psychology from the University of Utah in 1973. He was hired at Eastern Washington University in 1976 and was promoted to full professor in 1986. His contributions to the university over his 43 years of affiliation have been considerable and numerous in the areas of scholarship, service and teaching. In addition to having been recognized with the EWU Trustees' Medal—the highest honor possible—Williams has made innumerable positive impacts on our department and the university.

Williams has served as department chair three times during his tenure at EWU. He was instrumental in the last remodel of Martin Hall, providing incredible insight as to the needs of students in the classroom and innovative space to support faculty scholarship and student involvement in research. Along with numerous other grants, Williams was awarded a Roadmap to Redesign (R2R) grant through which he revolutionized the teaching of general psychology by providing advancement opportunities for students and effectively incorporating technology to enhance the learning experiences of students.

Williams has consistently encouraged the Psychology Department to be forward thinking and progressive in terms of instruction and curriculum, research and service. He facilitated the merger between psychology and counseling, educational and developmental psychology in 2011-2012. On a larger scale, he was instrumental in the development of our EWU Psychology at Bellevue College program, an incredibly successful program both in terms of student satisfaction and financial sustainability from the start. Additionally, Williams made significant contributions to the field. Most recently, he worked in collaboration with the Biology Department at EWU to examine the MAOA gene to see if there is a relationship between this and childhood maltreatment and aggression. This is groundbreaking research with the potential to have a significant impact on individuals in our society.

Dorothy Zeisler-Vralsted

Dorothy Zeisler-Vralsted obtained her PhD from Washington State University in 1987. She specialized in American history, natural resources, western history and modern East Asia. She was hired at Eastern Washington University in 2006 as a tenured professor in the International Affairs/ Government Department, which is now the Political Science Department.

Zeisler-Vralsted's contributions to the university over the years are considerable and her exemplary service is a model for all. In addition to being a beloved and respected teacher and member of the department for many years, Zeisler-Vralsted previously served as the Vice President for Student Affairs from 2006-2010, where she oversaw the units of Student Life, Enrollment Services, Eastern Advantage and Career Services.

Zeisler-Vralsted is a highly respected scholar and colleague. She was a Fulbright Fellow from 2003-2004 and Fulbright Scholar in 2016-2017 at Dubna (Russia) International University. Her research focuses on water history with publications on the historical development of major river systems, water use in the American West, and the intersection of race, gender and the environment. Her publications include Rivers, Memory and Nation-Building: A History of the Volga and Mississippi Rivers, Environment in History: International Perspectives, the co-edited, Understanding Terrorism: Threats in an Uncertain World, and numerous articles and book chapters.

Zeisler-Vralsted has a long history of working with teachers in grades 6-12 as she has received two major grants from the U.S. Department of Education's Teaching American History Program. Most recently, she was awarded her second National Endowment for the Humanities Landmarks Grant to provide a 2-week training to K-12 teachers in our region. The classes will focus on the rich history of the Grand Coulee Dam and particularly the integration of multiple pedagogical techniques including music and oral histories.

TRUSTEES' MEDAL AWARD

The Trustee's Medal Award is the university's highest form of recognition for faculty achievement. Each year since 1978, the award has honored teaching excellence, significant contributions to scholarship and research, and accomplishments in the development of academic programs and curriculums. The award consists of a silver medallion and a $1,500 cash prize from the EWU Foundation.

Jeffrey Lynn Stafford

Jeff Stafford, professor of communication studies, is well known across the Eastern Washington University campus—and across the region—for his service to the university, his discipline and the community. The number of committees he has served on and the positions he has held testify to his substantial contribution to the development of academic learning, programs and curricula, as well as his commitment to improving students' lives at EWU.

"If you ask anybody on and off the EWU campus about the Communication Studies Department, the first name you'll hear will be that of Jeff Stafford," says Galina Sinekopova, chair of the Communication Studies Department. "He is behind the most wonderful and innovative things we offer our students."

Stafford's expertise in leadership and organizational communication has led to his outstanding service to the university. He has been a department chair, an associate dean, an associate vice-Provost and the director of the Communication Master's Program, undergraduate degree tracks and the certificate program.

He is credited by his colleagues for his applied approach to research, which brings students, community leaders and businesses together for mutual benefit. "Dr. Stafford is the best example I know of a scholar who has integrated his research agenda with his teaching methods, his work in the community and university, and his research goals," says David Cornelius, Professor Emeritus at EWU who nominated Stafford for the award.

First and foremost, Stafford is an excellent teacher—applauded for his knowledge, dedication and inspiring nature.

"His teaching style motivates students to think about the broader implications of an issue and examine the real-life application of theories," says former student Sara Johnson. "He is an inspirational teacher and leader who cares about his students and their long-term success."

Stafford also utilizes his integrated approach to pedagogy in professional consulting services, volunteer work with local nonprofits, and academic research. He joined Eastern's faculty in 1990 and earned his PhD in communication studies from the University of Kansas.

Elizabeth Tipton

In the nearly 20 years Beth Tipton has been with Eastern Washington University, the well-respected analytics professor has developed countless courses, served on university committees, served as interim associate dean and dean, and contributed to research in her field, while earning the admiration of colleagues and students alike.

"Students love Beth," says Nikki Measor, who nominated Tipton for the award and serves as director of Spokane Student Services. "She is able to not only inspire curiosity, but also support students so that they can rise to the challenges of that curiosity."

Equipped with a PhD in information systems and business statistics from the University of Texas at Austin, Tipton worked tirelessly for a decade to develop the Business Analytics Program at EWU. She was also the primary faculty member involved in the development of the Microsoft partnership, a widely-recognized, innovative program that prepares Eastern students to succeed in the competitive analytics marketplace.

Colleagues say Tipton puts a considerable amount of time into recruiting. She meets personally with prospective students who are interested in data analytics. She is known for being extremely knowledgeable in her field, while also being approachable.

"Dr. Tipton is an excellent instructor. She not only continuously seeks the best approaches and materials for teaching, but also makes the best, and often extra, effort to help students," says Duanning Zhou, chair of the Information Systems and Business Analytics Department. "Many times, even on weekends, her office is full of students asking questions or for help."

"Dr. Tipton goes above and beyond for any of her students, or rather, anyone who asks her for a helping hand," adds students Molly Mueller and Peter Matson. "She is more than a professor—she is a mentor and a friend to all."

Tipton has also made significant professional contributions in research and scholarship. She has published research manuscripts in numerous peer-reviewed journals, has published papers in many refereed proceedings, and has made numerous presentations at national and international conferences.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARDS

The Distinguished Service Awards are given each year to recognize exemplary service and outstanding contributions to the university. Letters of nomination and support are reviewed by the University Medals and Awards Committee.

Bill Shaw
Administrative Exempt

Serving as business officer for a single college at Eastern is a big job on its own, but Bill Shaw has the extraordinary ability to do it for multiple colleges at the same time.

Shaw currently serves as the business officer for the College of Social Sciences. Prior to moving to social sciences, Shaw was instrumental in helping the university navigate a particularly busy time for several colleges. While serving as the budget officer for the College of Business and Public Administration, he jumped into the same position for the College of Health Science and Public Health. Then, the next year, he again jumped in to help—this time for the College of Science, Technology, Engineering and Math.

“He remained urbane, collegial, friendly and competent under pressure,” says Martine Duchatelet, economics professor at EWU and former dean of the College of Business and Public Administration. “He managed to juggle serving two colleges at the same time without either college being short-changed.”

Jonathan Anderson, dean of the College of Social Sciences, adds that Shaw takes on a herculean amount of work. “I cannot imagine many individuals being able to take on the financial roles of two colleges at the same time, and yet, Bill did so voluntarily, humbly and without complaint,” Anderson says.

An employee since 2008, coworkers across campus say Shaw, who holds two degrees from EWU, is an approachable resource and carries a constant willingness to assist others.

“Bill has a great personality that allows him to work well with everyone,” says Tara Moses, the executive director of Academic Business and Operations. “He is extremely knowledgeable about the institution and shares his knowledge frequently.”

“Bill’s work life seems to be one constant interruption; I truly do not know how he manages to get his work done,” says Krista Loney, director of the Eastern Washington Area Health Education Center. “So many people rely on him, and so many people are taken care of because of his commitment to excellence.”

The award includes the Distinguished Service Award medallion and a check for $1,000. These awards were presented at the University Family Thanksgiving reception in November 2018.

Carla Messal
Classified Staff

When the PUB reopened last fall, the newly renovated space wasn’t the only bright spot waiting for students and staff. Carla Messal was there to not only keep the space shiny and clean, but to also make sure the busy people inside were happy and healthy.

A custodian at Eastern for seven years, Messal transferred to the PUB from Showalter Hall last year because she sought a location that would allow her more contact with students—and more opportunities to help support them. “I consider her part of the student success team without a doubt,” says Mark Baldwin, the Associate Vice President for Academic Planning.

While custodians are sometimes overlooked and underappreciated, Messal’s attitude and spirit keep her going strong every day. Her supervisors and coworkers report that she’s regularly early for work and always willing to help a coworker or share a tip that may make the job easier.

It’s Messal’s thoughtfulness that really strikes a chord with people. “The light and life she brought to the PUB with her is unparalleled,” says Kasey Schmidt, a custodial supervisor at EWU. “She is so much more than just a custodian. She is an ambassador of the EWU spirit. Her thoughtful ways and ever-present smile leave all who encounter her throughout the day a little warmer.”

From fellow staff members to students, they all say Messal goes above and beyond to make sure people feel at home at Eastern.

“Every morning that I see Carla she speaks to me,” says Darnisha Thomas, a business student at Eastern. “She is always cheerful with a smiling face. As a student here, Carla is one of the many who always checks on me to see how I am doing, even though she does not have to.”

Messal’s impact at Eastern does not go unnoticed or unappreciated.

“I began to understand that this woman was one comparable to superwoman,” adds Heidi Bishop, psychology major and student supervisor at the EWU Eagle Store. “Always getting her job done while simultaneously bettering the lives of those around her.”

2019-2020 FRANCES B. HUSTON MEDALLION AWARDS

Frances Breitweg Huston circa 1955

The Frances B. Huston Medallion Recognizes Graduating Seniors for Excellence in Academics, Leadership, and Service.

Frances Breitweg Huston was born in Vancouver, Washington, Aug. 13, 1912. She grew up in Portland, Oregon, and received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Reed College in 1931, and her Master of Arts in English Literature from the University of Washington (1947/1948). In 1955, Graham Dressler, PhD, professor of English at what was then Eastern Washington College of Education, offered Huston a position teaching English and English as a second language. Huston joined EWU's faculty in the fall of 1955 and taught until her retirement in academic year 1975/1976.

The Frances B. Huston Medallion Award was established in 1998 by a gift from Mary Ann Nelson, EWU professor of English emerita, as a tribute to Huston's lifelong commitment to education and a generosity to students that was quiet but ongoing. The medallion award program recognizes outstanding graduates and reflects Huston's compassion and respect for what education can do for an individual and a community. This award is presented to only 20 graduating students each year.

Recipients of the Frances B. Huston Medallion Award will have established themselves as exceptionally capable individuals in both academic and extracurricular activities. The faculty and administration of Eastern Washington University acknowledge their great pride in the accomplishments of these students during their college experience and expect even greater accomplishments in the years that lie ahead.

To be eligible to receive the award, students must

- be graduating seniors;
- have demonstrated outstanding academic achievement with a minimum of a 3.75 GPA in their previous four quarters; and
- qualify for the award in one or more of the following areas: leadership, service to the university and/or service to the community.

University College interacts with almost all students on campus – either through the General Education program that it administers or the myriad opportunities open to all students. Through University College students can engage with the community, enroll in Honors, do grant funded research with McNair, study abroad or participate in the Student Research and Creative Works Symposium.

Students who have come to Eastern Washington University from another country are supported and served by the School of Global Learning, also in University College.

University College is seen as the place for Honors and opportunity by students on the campus. They are encouraged to move between the various units like McNair, Honors, or the Symposium to complete and present research. As Honors moved to a social justice, civic responsibility, and community engagement model they will more closely connect service learning to their classroom coursework.

In the academic year 2018-2019, University College oversaw the revision of Breadth Area Course Requirements for students. These revisions will ensure that all students are creative and analytical thinkers, are information and quantitatively literate, and can write about complex issues. In the academic year 2019-2020 University College oversaw faculty's revision of Global Studies and Cultural Diversity courses, empowering students to be citizens with a broad understanding of their communities and the world.

As University College serves as an incubator for new ideas in Honors and General Education, it also offers faculty a place to come together, synthesize, and share knowledge in the Faculty Commons within University College. This year's workshops have highlighted inclusive teaching methods, designed to support the diversity of students we attract to campus.

University College will continue to be a place where faculty and students bring emerging ideas and teaching methods to each other serving as a support for the evolution of higher education.
