On March 17, you will see a large group of vibrant, high-potential high school students on campus for the Ivy Leadership Academy hosted by the Office for Diversity, Equity & Inclusion.

Show your Eagle spirit in welcoming them. Ivy is designed to empower high school students grades 10-12 with the tools needed for personal and professional life and career success.

Ivy is based on the theory that exposure to higher education, mentors, role modeling and planning a future for youth will increase persistence toward high school completion and encourage college attendance.

Providing high school students with self-determination to envision a future for themselves will result in strong multicultural leaders, strong family units and healthier successful communities.
