

Faculty Evaluations

What you need to know

The frequency of evaluation and the associated timelines are tied to the rank of the faculty member, and whether or not the faculty member is going up for promotion for the next academic year. Participants in the process include the faculty member (of course), the Chair, Dean and the Provost.

Timelines for each participant in the faculty evaluation processes are contained within the Calendar of Deadlines:

In general, the evaluation process is initiated by the individual faculty member in January of each year. Timeframe for completion of the evaluation process is tied to whether or not the faculty candidate is eligible for promotion (as more steps and approvals are required).
