CANADA TO UNVEIL CROSS RAISED FOR AMERICAN BUDDIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(A.P.)—Five years will have passed by at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, French time, since the accident bombing of the gas along the western front ceased for the first time in more than four years of destruction and slaughter.

An emotional outburst of thanksgiving that the struggle was over swept the world on that day. Then the vasting business of rebuilding among the economic and physical wreckage left by the World war began. It is still going on, but with a slowness at painful variance with the rushing speed of the war destruction, that had overruled the attending process.

Canada to unveil Cross as it is the past, since that first world war that the fighting had ended on the original American day, there will be no formal celebration in America of this such anniversary. Only once, in 1921, when the Oklahoma Soldier was announced at Arlington national cemetery, has the day been marked for Americans by an organized and nation-wide tribute to its significance.

Yet tomorrow a few torches will be given the day so far as Washington is concerned with the unveiling at
